TO SEARCH PACIFIC

For Traces of the World Flyers
Amelia Earhart and Frederick Noonan

E. C. Sharpe, president of the Pacific Navigation Company of San Francisco, announced that his organization is outfitting a three-masted schooner to search in the mid-Pacific for Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Frederick Noonan.

Sharpe said Charles C. Putnam, Jr., a New York broker, is directing the search and will accompany the ship on a three to four months' cruise. The schooner will have auxiliary power and a crew of 20 men. Miss Earhart vanished last July while on a trip around the world.

AT THE NATION'S CAPITOL

By Clyde H. Smith, representing Maine's Second Congressional District
A National Obligation which will Never Outlaw

The Nation's Capital, Jan. 24 (Special to The Courier-Gazette).

An invaluable part of my education in public affairs came through sixteen years' service on the Board of Selectmen in the Town of Skowhegan. The days of preparation and our entry into the World War were embraced in that period. My promises to those boys who left our section for the training camps and for overseas service had them and still have the sacredness of those made by any other citizen. But to me they have an added solemnity by reason of the official position then held. We were called the "Town Fathers." War days gave a special significance to that term.

We made many promises—but not too many. It was entirely fitting to tell those youngsters that, if they returned, neither they nor theirs should ever come to want. They were also entitled to the assurance that, if they were injured or disabled a grateful government would provide tender and sympathetic care. We made them feel that, by embarking in that most hazardous of all enterprises—War—they became a class apart, entitled to considerations that we who remained at home could never claim. Our manner of keeping, or failure to keep, those promises of war days is no cause for pride. It would be possible, of course, for the ex-service men to ask a program that would so impoverish the country as to add to their privation as well as ours. But this is not likely to happen and, short of that, it is hard to think of demands, likely to be made, that we ought not to grant, certainly none in excess of the promises we so freely pledged when the boys marched away to face danger and death in our defense.

Simple justice would provide that all of the Great War costs should be borne by the twenty-five thousand millionaires, whose fortunes were made possible by that struggle, and the international bankers and munition makers who began with millions and multiplied them hugely through war opportunity. Just that we could do, if we were sufficiently alert, but failure to place the burden where it belongs in no wise relieves us of it. If we neglect to make the profiteers pay for the war they in some sense caused, when they undoubtedly prolonged, and in which their patriotism was conspicuous by its absence, the rest of us must find ways to assume the cost.

The things hereafter mentioned are chiefly those in which the veteran seeks justice for himself and his comrade. The ex-service men are also ceaselessly promoting much that is of the utmost concern to the general public. One of these efforts is the Universal Draft, probably the most hopeful of all the plans which have been offered for peace. The Sheppard-Hill Bill, through which the Universal Draft is sought, will receive my constant support. It will be made the subject of one of these stories, in the early future.

The veterans ask that preference be given the ex-service man as to federal employment. Something has been done in this line; the ex-soldier says not enough. How eagerly we made that promise: "Your job will be waiting for you when you come back." How careless we were about its fulfillment! This request for preference can only in part make good what we said we'd do.

Our hospital facilities are short a thousand beds of being able to care for the veterans in need of this service. We were mighty careful of the boys when they were needed in the front line trenches. Their comfort and restoration to health from disease and disability should no less concern us now.

Other legislation is asked making more liberal provisions for widows and orphans, increasing the allowance for service-connected disability, for needed improvements at the various Soldiers' Homes, and for the establishment and care of national cemeteries, all of which is but keeping the faith with those who had faith in us when, in 1917, they left the security and delights of peace to become warriors in our behalf.

AGE OF ACHIEVEMENT

Canadian Optimist Head Says It Will Be Greatest In History This Year

A prediction that the greatest age of achievement in history will be entered during the year 1938 was made by William J. Tanblyn of Toronto, Canada, president of Optimist International, in a talk to members of the Miami Optimist Club in the McAllister Hotel. Tanblyn said he saw this great age as unfolding in a study of the "science of human engineering."

"Canadians like much of the rest of the world looked skeptically at the pomp and ceremony of the coronation of England's king last May, but the words of the new king changed this attitude when he said, 'I give up everything for service,' Tanblyn related.

"We in Canada have changed our attitude toward service. We're going to use the advantages of science that have been given to us," he said.

Tanblyn said "Optimism is that faith that leads to achievements." He stressed the objectives of the Optimism clubs with that of being a "friend of the boy," as outstanding.

A Friendship Night

Double Installation In That Town Provides Entertainment For 100

Pythian Sisters of Friendship Temple and Knights of Pythias of Meduncook Lodge held a joint installation Friday night attended by more than 100 members, guests and visitors from Thomaston, Warren and Waldoboro. The newly elected officers of Friendship Temple were impressively installed by the most excellent chief, Gertrude Oliver who wore a gown of ink blue rayon lace over taffeta silk, the only accessories being a bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. Oliver was ably assisted by

Mrs. Clayton Oliver, Installing Officer

the past chief, Genie Simmons as grand guard, wearing a dress of black transparent velvet with silver accessories; the past chief, Edna Packard as grand senior, in rayon silk crepe; the past chief Oreltha Mitchell as mistress of ceremonies, gowned in black transparent velvet with gold accessories; Eda Lawry, flag bearer, wearing white silk with a silk cape and cap lined with crimson satin; the past chief Josephine Lawry, as Flora, with four flower girls, Janice Mitchell, Joan Winchester, Gladis Burns and Thelma Prior, dressed in white representing angels with bands of tiny rosebuds for crowns, made by Mrs. Lawry.

The group marched in bearing carnations and presented a flower to each officer, this being the most effective part of the ceremony. "I Come to the Garden Alone" was sung by the officers installed, with Llewellyn Oliver at the piano and Arthur MacFarland, violinist. Mrs. Lawry merits much credit for this portion of the rites, as it was effective and beautiful.

Eva Russell presented past chief pins to the most excellent chief, Gertrude Oliver, and mistress of records and correspondence, Adelia Jameson. The installing officer received a gold filled fountain pen, to which she responded in verse, and fitting remarks. Each of the grand officers who assisted the installing officer were recipients of gifts, after which red rosebuds were presented to each with an appropriate poem recited by the installing officer. Past Chief Oreltha Mitchell made replies charmingly, concluding with a poetic quotation. The flower girls were presented with gifts and rosebuds. Llewellyn Oliver played the march for the Sisters' installation and Arthur MacFarland served as violinist.

Deputy Grand Chancellor Maurice Chadwick of Meduncook Lodge was assisted in installing by Grand Vice Chancellor R. L. Thompson; grand prelate, Fessenden Winchester; grand master of work, Guy Bessey; grand master at arms, Carlton Simmons; grand keeper of records and seal, Eugene Brown; grand master of finance, Crosby Prior.

The newly-elected officers of the Knights were: William Hall, chancellor commander; Howard Beale, vice chancellor; Charles Grant, prelate; Alton Prior master of work; Ernest Becket, master at arms; John Mitchell, keeper of records and seal; Maurice Chadwick, master of finance; Wilbur A. Morse, master of exchequer; Merland Simmons, inner guard.

In addition to the musicians above referred to, Blanche Wilson of Thomaston played for the Knights installation. Supper was served under the supervision of

Bible Baseball

One of the Features At Get-Together of Brotherhood and Goago

A Bible baseball game, with nine men of the Brotherhood contesting a team from the Goago Class, was the feature of a get-together of these two classes of the First Baptist Church at a supper-business meeting of the Brotherhood class, held in the parlors of the church Monday night.

Fourteen members of Rev. J. Charles MacDonald's class, guests of the Brotherhood class, which had an attendance of 29 sat down to a delicious supper arranged by the men and served by Mrs. Frank B. Prescott, Mrs. William L. Gregory, Mrs. Florian Clark and Mrs. Katherine Collins.

The semi-annual business meeting of the Brotherhood class was conducted by president George J. Cumming, who has held the top office since February 4, 1937. The nominating committee, which also served as committee of arrangements for this happy affair and comprising Bert S. Gregory, Frank Prescott, E. A. Wotton and Charles L. Collins, presented the following list of officers for the ensuing six months period, president, George J. Cumming; vice president, Raymond L. Pendleton; secretary, R. S. Sherman; treasurer, Edwin H. Orie; teacher, Frank H. Ingraham and assistant teacher, Leslie A. Packard. They were elected unanimously.

Reports were presented by the secretary and the treasurer, and remarks were made by president Cumming, Rev. J. Charles MacDonald, Frank H. Ingraham and Leslie A. Packard. The average attendance including visitors during six months ending Dec. 31, 1937, was 23. An outstanding feature of the work of the class was the furnishing of a "hook-up" so that the class teacher, ill at home, might enjoy the Taylor meetings held at the Community Building.

Charles H. Morey, superintendent of the First Baptist church school was a guest. Those present from pastor MacDonald's Goago class were Paul Pietroski, Ansel Young, Kent Stanley, Millard Hart, Russell Rackliffe, Roy Joyce, Maynard Ames, Luther Bickmore, Earle Bickmore, Gerald Beverage, Daniel Chick, Kenneth Hooper and Alton Perry. The Brotherhood Bible baseball team, captained by Mr. MacDonald held the Goago team, captained by Leslie A. Packard, to a tie. Both classes meet Sundays from noon until 1 o'clock on the ground floor of the "corner building," 500 Main street, and men and boys are cordially invited to attend these Bible study sessions.

A Pioneer Camper

Death of Mrs. Irene Gould Recalls Early Connection With Pleasant Beach

The death of Mrs. Irene Gould, reported in another column, serves as a reminder that she was a pioneer member of the Pleasant Beach summer colony.

In 1892 while spending two weeks at "Cedar Crest," Camden, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Gould accepted an invitation to spend one Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Thorn, dike at their cottage at Pleasant Beach. Being greatly pleased with the location, the Butler cottage "High Rock" was rented for the month of August 1893.

A basket picnic was held Aug. 26 on the Gould lot, to which all the "campers" were invited. Mrs. Hewett sang "opera" for the benefit of those present. J. H. H. Hewett felled the first tree.

Contract was given to Tripp & Graves of South Thomaston to build a cottage, which was finished in October. Mr. Gould gave the cottage to Mrs. Gould as a gift on her birthday, Nov. 5, 1893. (Mr. Gould died Jan. 25, 1929).

"WELCOME HIM IN"

There is wise warning in Edwin Markham's verse:
"When duty comes a-knocking at your gate,
Welcome him in; for if you bid him wait,
He will depart only to come once more
And bring seven other duties to your door."

Chamberlain Simmons assisted by Clarence Morton. The menu consisted of scallop and shrimp stew, crackers, pickles, doughnuts and coffee. The installation and supper were highly praised by the visiting members and considered the finest of the organizations to date.

One of Broadway's former nicknames was The Big Apple.

DONDIS MEETS ERROL FLYNN

And Finds the Movie Star Very Fascinating—Also Met Cecil de Mille

Joseph Dondis, manager of the local theatres, has done much rubbing of elbows with the great and near great since he embarked in the motion picture game, but on his recent visit to Boston was more than ordinarily fortunate for he had contacts with Errol Flynn, famed film star, and Cecil de Mille, internationally famous motion picture producer.

Our Joe Dines and Chats with Errol Flynn

Dropping into Warner Bros. he received his usual cordial greeting, and was introduced to Flynn. In the course of the informal conversation which followed both were invited to a stage show at Wilbur Theatre. The attraction was "If I were You," Constance Cummings starring. The play is sponsored by Warner Bros., who hope to convert it into a picture later.

At Wilbur Theatre Manager Dondis also met Nathan Furst, New England manager for the Warner Bros. productions. Flynn, Furst and Dondis were provided with three of the choicest seats in the fourth row, and 'tween acts the trio naturally talked shop.

"What do you consider the best picture you have ever been in?" Manager Dondis asked of Errol Flynn.

"Robin Hood," was the unhesitating reply, referring to the magnificent production soon to be released. Dondis describes the movie star as on the threshold of the 30's, a six-footer, with most expressive eyes. He appeared to enjoy the stage show immensely and kept up a brilliant flow of conversation when the lines were not being said.

One errand which brought Flynn to Boston was the purchase of a yacht. He laid down $12,000 for the craft which caught his fancy, and when not on location is going to have some seagoing diversion. Conversing with Furst the Rockland manager frankly expressed the opinion that some of the productions were pretty high priced.

"Good actors cost good money," was Furst's ready reply. Cecil de Mille had come on to see a preview of "The Buccaneer." Another much discussed picture is "Mannequin" which comes to Strand Theatre Feb. 6, 7, 8.

"ROD" FEYLER'S VALEDICTORY

Former Fish Commissioner Quits Office With Sportsmanlike Statement

Rodney E. Feyler, who was recently succeeded as Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries by Arthur R. Greenleaf of Boothbay Harbor, yesterday made the following statements:

"I leave the office of Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries with a clear conscience and with the personal satisfaction of knowing that I have tried to do a good job. I firmly believe that a good foundation has been laid for better times in the fishing industry and that my successor will find the finances, equipment, morale of the staff and other features of the Department in good shape.

"I congratulate Commissioner Greenleaf, wish him the best of luck and stand willing to assist him in any way I can. He has a great opportunity to bring the industry to the forefront and believe that he will try to do so.

"I wish to thank the fishermen, dealers and all other citizens of Maine who supported me for reappointment and my wardens and office force for their loyal and conscientious endeavors.

"Now I am returning to private life a wiser man. I wish all the taxpayers could have the same experience. Articles in more detail will follow. The three years I have served have seen varied assortment of disappointments and successes. I leave the Department in excellent condition and with a lot of new and valued friends."

Rodney E. Feyler.

"It's A Small World"

The "small world" incident came to the front again recently in Trenton, N. J., when Mrs. Jane Bird and daughter, Miss Madeline Bird, who teaches in the High School of that city, were entertaining a friend, and the latter's guest, at dinner.

"Where is your home?" the guest casually inquired of Mrs. Bird. "Rockland, Me.," was the reply.

The guest, who belongs in Detroit, Mich., and whose name is unknown to the writer of these paragraphs, was immediately interested. "One time," she said, "I had an uncle, the husband of my mother's oldest sister, who preached in the First Baptist Church of Rockland. His name was Roberts. Ever hear of him?"

"I should say so," was the reply. "He officiated at my wedding and was a close friend of my family."

From the guest was also learned that Harold Roberts and family are now located in California. Mrs. Roberts is greatly improved in health, and is able to walk again.

FOR SENATE PRESIDENCY

State Senator Sanger M. Cook (R) of Pittsfield formally announced Sunday he would be a candidate for president of the Maine Senate in 1939, if re-elected to the upper legislative branch. Senator Arthur G. Spear (R) of Portland recently announced his candidacy for that position. For several years Cook has been assistant principal of the Maine Central Institute.

No. Haven To Dance

Herman W. Crockett, chairman of the committee for celebrating the President's Birthday announces that arrangements have been made for the Birthday Ball in K.P. hall, Friday night. This is an appeal to every citizen to have a part in this great fight to stamp out infantile paralysis.

He urges your presence, but if unable to attend, your donation to this nationwide appeal may be passed to the chairman. He especially asks all Grangers, K.P.'s, and members of the Sisterhood, The Church and the Public Schools to have a part in this. Dr. Blake B. Annis, chairman for Knox County wants the support of every town in the county. Let North Haven do its part.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

BY THEIR FRUITS

A queer old man was Christopher Jones—Minded his business, never threw stones; Quoted Euripides; lived in a shack; Planted petunias in crevice and crack; Joked with the children; bragged of our street; Wore a felt hat in sunshine or sleet; Whistled and sang; worked when he would; "Wouldn't be rich," said he, "if I Knew the book name of all of his bones—A queer old man was Christopher Jones. When the street got flu, 'I' nuss 'em," said he. "A right good task for a man like me." Kinless and homeless. So up and down The burdened street of our little town Went Christopher Jones—nor man nor child But raised his head when the old man smiled.

A friend in a neighboring State writes:

"You know that suggestion of yours about standing back to a mirror and holding a hand glass in front of you. Well, just like the boy who was told not to do a certain thing I tried it, and just as you said, I did not see as much hair on the top and back of my head as I expected."

I wonder how many other men tried this simple but revealing experiment.

Commander C. F. Snow tells the story about the naval officer who had brought a ship through the Great Lakes and who didn't think much of the pilot engaged for that purpose. "We had an awful poor pilot," said the officer—"one of those Naval Reserve fellows who didn't seem to know much of anything."

"Who was it?" asked Commander Snow casually.

"Oh, a feller named Robert Bartlett."

Readers of recent Arctic exploits had formed rather a different opinion of Robert Bartlett.

"Where do you live, in a saw-mill?" The expression is older than the hills, but it still applies with full force to the person who fails to shut your door on sub-zero days.

I note with much satisfaction that more movie patrons are removing their hats and wraps before starting for their seats. The Black Cat's protest may have had nothing to do with this, but the fact remains that better taste is being exercised.

Persons who never saw a candle-pin are reading those unique bowling reports which come from my long-time friend O. V. Drew, Vinal Haven's popular postmaster and resourceful writer. And what glorious times those boys must have on that happy granite island across the bay.

She went up into the City Building one day stumbling up that awkward stairway from the street, money in hand to pay her taxes. Out of breath and deeply incensed she met a man coming down the stairway. Thinking it was the tax collector she exclaimed:

"Such a place! I've a great mind to throw this money in your face." "All right," smiled the man. But it was not Collector McInnis. It was Leforest Thurston, then the city's mayor.

—O—

Radio fans, what has become of that popular indoor sport, station hunting. Nowadays I seldom hear anybody boasting of the number of stations they have logged. In the days of "On My Set" I logged approximately 370 stations, including seven California stations in a single night, but a Thomaston woman always kept a goodly distance ahead of me, and I finally gave up the battle.

—O—

Funny thing! Some people spend 11 months of the year regretting that they do not make more money, and they spend the twelfth month regretting they made so much. Those income tax blanks do put another face on the matter.

Under the caption "Here's a Poser; Who Was the Poser," Friday's Bath Times had the following:

"The Roving Reporter of The Courier-Gazette writes 'Rumor has had it that a Rockland damsel posed for the ski-girl picture which so becomingly adorned the front page of a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post and that she received $150 or $250 for the sitting. Unfortunately I cannot learn from the family that it was so.'"

"The same rumor has been current this week that a young married woman living in Sunset Park posed for the illustration. One North End woman who was quite certain the Sunset Park resident was the subject of the sketch, has, like the Rockland reporter, been unable to verify it."

Old Home Week

Fire Dept. and Winslow- Holbrook Post Plan Great Doings June 27-July 4

Rockland's Old Home Week came a long step nearer to reality last night when a vitally interested group gathered in the City Council rooms and organized for the event. Dates were set, June 27 to July 4 inclusive under auspices of the Rockland Fire Department with Winslow-Holbrook Post, A. L., co-operating.

Mayor Edward R. Veazie, who is thoroughly in sympathy with the effort, was made honorary chairman and the arduous duties of joint general chairmen were accepted by Chief Van Russell and Donald L. Kelsey of the Legion. The fire department members of the committee are Percy Dinsmore, Ralph Staples, James Gray and George Tripp. The Legion members include H. G. Staples, Levi Flint, D. L. Kelsey, Milton French and L. R. Cates.

Pull co-operation of the Maine State Fire Chiefs is promised, that association holding its annual field day here during the week. The Maine State Hand Engine League will also hold a State muster here. Many other intensely interesting features are under preparation.

The objective of the celebration is to secure adequate salvage and protective equipment for use by the Rockland Fire Department. The next meeting of the committee will be held Feb. 8.

The new officers will take their chairs at Pleasant Valley Grange meeting tonight. The lecturer offers this program: Banjo solo, Leona Hickman; roll call, "What part of Grange work do you enjoy most and why?"; guitar solo, Russell Hickman; agricultural advantages of our community (opened by Worthy Ceres); solo and guitar, Oscar Simpson; suggestions offered by anyone; song, Vallie McLaughlin. This Grange has been invited to confer the third and fourth degrees at Wessaweskeag Grange Wednesday night, and will accept with the new officers doing the work.

Rum At The Wheel

Merle Dobbins Has Some- thing To Say About Dis- cipline On Ships

Waterville, Jan. 22
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
In reference to the conflicting views today concerning charges that discipline has broken down aboard American ships.

Having served in the American Merchant Marine for a period of six years, working up from an ordinary seaman to a licensed officer and serving as such, I hope I will be allowed to say a few words on the subject.

Concerning the testimony of an unidentified ship captain before the commerce committee, in which he mentioned that he saw lookouts aloft so drunk they were afraid to remove them from the crow's nest and men being drunk at the wheel, for the fear they would fall down, etc. I myself have had the unpleasant experience of seeing such things before my own eyes while on duty. As a rule, though, such incidents would almost always happen the first night out from port.

I have had the occasion several times while running in shallow water to have men come up to the wheel that could not stand up, let alone see the compass. One time on the night watch I remember sending four men down below because they could not even see the compass at the wheel and upon sending for the lookout found that he had passed out, and before doing so had found himself a bed upon a coil of rope up in the forepeak.

After the first night the sailors would most always settle down to their work, broke in money, but happy in thought of the next port where they could go ashore again with their trip's pay and go through the same procedure.

A life of a sailor is not a bed of roses and I feel that they deserve all the good time they can get while ashore, but when it comes to taking it to the ships, its passengers and officers, something drastic should be done about it.

—Merle P. Dobbins, formerly of Rockland.

A Snug Contest

But the Rockland Puck Artists Took Crosby High's Number

The Rockland High Sextet battled hard to win over the Belfast Pucksters, 3 to 2, here last Saturday.

This is the second game for the Rockland boys and they made a good showing, for a team which lacks a regular coach, and experience.

The Rockland star center, Mariner, was not feeling quite up to par, but showed he could still find the cage.

Some of the "skat-tators" said that Belfast talked a better game than they played, as could be seen when one of the players made an unfair goal. The referee almost believed him when he said he made it.

Howard, Rockland's new goalie, is learning fast how to keep that little hunk of rubber away from the cage. Smith is regular goal tender at present.

The score:

Rockland (3)	Belfast (2)

OBJECTS TO THE CUT

Maine Congressmen will be asked to fight a proposed federal cut in the Citizens Military Training Camp quota for 1938, fearing such a step would bring about discontinuance of Fort McKinley as a CMTC center. Capt. Fred D. McAlary, Waterville civilian aide to the secretary of war for Maine, said the proposed cut contemplated a 60 per cent decrease in the number of student soldiers. Capt. McAlary is a brother of Supt. A. F. McAlary of Rockland.

Wash Day Now Also Play Day

Wash day, which formerly meant long hours of labor and a multitude of household steps, can now be a play day, according to representatives of the Bendix home laundry, newest appliance making for housewife leisure. The machine, seen in the lower right of the photo, can be conveniently located almost anywhere in a home, even in that portion of a basement which may be devoted to indoor sports. After placing the clothes in the machine and setting a dial, the operator does not touch them again until they are washed, rinsed and damp-dried ready for the line, and while all that is going on the operator's time is hers to do with as she desires. The machine is extremely compact, being 35 inches high, 25 inches wide and 20 inches deep, and all working parts are protected. A demonstration of this machine will be given tomorrow at 2, 4 and 7 P. M. at Parker E. Worrey's, Park street show rooms.—adv.

Legal Notice

A hearing will be held at the City Hall in the City of Rockland, on Monday, the seventh day of February, A. D. 1938, at 7:30 o'clock in the afternoon, by the municipal officers on the applications of Knox County Country Club, for a license to sell spirituous and vinous liquors at No. 143 Maverick Street, Rockland, Maine, and on the application of Thorndike Hotel, Inc., for a license to sell spirituous and vinous liquors at No. 387 Main Street, Rockland, Maine.

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

The Harbor was frozen over Jan. 25, 1888 and on the following day, which brought the worst storm of the season, the mail did not go out. The roads were in bad condition Jan. 27 and although the mail went to Thomaston, it did not get back. From Wednesday to Saturday there was no mail west of Portland. A total eclipse of the moon was recorded Jan. 28.

Community Bowling

Camden Y.M.C.A. packed just a few too many guns last night, coming through with a 30-pin victory over Community Building bowlers. Rockland was up 27 pins at the end of the third string, but at the end of the fourth, Camden was ahead 32, losing only two in the last stanza. George Boynton was high man of the match with 490 with Basil Stinson a close runner-up with 485. Stinson was high for a single string with 111, and second high of 109 was rolled up by Neal Magee.

Tonight sees another league match, with Elks vs. John Bird Co. and Central Maine Power Co. vs. High School faculty. Thursday night Post Office vs. Aces and A. & P. vs. Rice's.

Ladies' Night will be observed tomorrow night. More and more are attending these special nights, and some good totals are turned in. It is hoped to start a league soon, as enthusiasm is running high.

ROCKPORT

Miss Marion Upham, Mrs. Lou Upham, Mrs. Alice Marston, Miss Helen Small, Miss Helena Upham, Mrs. Louise Holbrook, Mrs. Marion Ingraham and Miss Leona Salisbury represented Harbor Light Chapter, O.E.S., when it was entertained as special guest of Orient Chapter of Union, Friday at a stated meeting. A banquet preceded the exemplification of the work. The trip was made in Crockett's bus.

Mrs. Veda Brown was hostess Friday night to the T Club. A luncheon followed an evening of sewing.

Mrs. Bertha Thurston was guest Friday at the home of her brother, Earl Davis and family.

An addition is being built on the Luboshutz cottage, enlarging the living room, with Arthur Berry in charge of the work.

Thurston Spear is temporarily incapacitated as the result of an infected arm.

Byron Ryder was at home from Burdett College, Boston, to spend the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rider.

Jesse Wentworth has opened a pool room and ice cream parlor in the former Peterson building, which he recently bought.

Mrs. Mildred Rhodes will entertain the Twentieth Century Club Friday afternoon at her home at Highland Square.

Mrs. Josephine Wall was happily surprised Friday night when a group of 25 relatives and neighbors gathered at her home to honor her 81st birthday anniversary which fell on Saturday. An added surprise was the arrival of two of her daughters from Boston, Mrs. Everett Pitts and Mrs. Ethel Spear, accompanied by Mr. Pitts and daughter Josephine. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ingraham, Maynard Ingraham, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shibles, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lane and daughter Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhodes, Mrs. Minetta Paul, Mr. and Mrs. William Whitney, Mrs. Eliza Jones, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Richards, Mrs. Ella Overlock, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Pitts and daughter Josephine, and Mrs. Ethel Spear. The time was spent socially and refreshments were served. Gifts presented Mrs. Wall included an attractive birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Pitts and daughter Josephine and Mrs. Ethel Spear returned to Boston Sunday after a visit with relatives in town.

Miss Marion Weidman returned Saturday from Marcellus, N. Y., where she was called by the death of her uncle, Dr. C. E. Weidman.

Mrs. Minnie Wellman has employment for a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carroll in Augusta.

Mrs. Susie Davis returned Saturday from Camden where she has been employed, and is now confined to her home on Mechanic street by illness.

Mrs. Alice Bettencourt of Vineyard Haven, Mass., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dautett.

Installation of officers of Fred A. Overlock W.R.C. will take place Friday at Grand Army hall and will be followed by a social hour with refreshments. Members not solicited are asked to furnish cake or cookies. Soldiers of all wars are invited and members may invite friends.

Mrs. Nellie (Coates) Jordan of New York who was called here by the death of her father-in-law, Herbert Coates, is remaining for a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Coates.

Mrs. Viola Spear is confined to her home from an attack of grippe. Fish's orchestra will furnish music for installation of officers of Harbor Light Chapter, O.E.S., tonight and also for the social hour which will follow. Mrs. Beulah Blakely will have charge of refreshments.

Grant's Tomb has never really been finished. They intended featuring a group of prancing steeds on the dome, but the money ran out. It is monitored by the Union League Club.

Pursuant to the rules of the District Court of the United States for the District of Maine, notice is hereby given, that Gilbert G. Harmon of Camden, in said District, has applied for admission as an attorney and counselor of said District Court.

JOHN F. KNOWLTON, Clerk.

THE WEATHER

It's what might well be termed a freak day for midwinter. Temperature this morning 45 degrees above zero, wind blowing a March gale, and April showers carrying away the snow left by Sunday's storm. Robert Burns was born 179 years ago today. But it was Shakespeare who wrote "The Tempest."

Aurora Lodge, F.A.M., works the Entered Apprentice degree tomorrow night.

State Prison's population is 349. What will the next census show?

Miss Madlene Rogers will entertain at a benefit card party Thursday night at her home on Amesbury street.

The President's Ball having been changed to Thursday, the Friday night dance at Glen Cove will be held as usual.

Anderson Camp Auxiliary will sponsor a card party at Grand Army hall tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Helen Paladino as chairman.

Benefit card party at Owl's Head Town hall, Thursday night, with lunch and prizes. Tickets 25c.—ad. 11-12

Don't miss Powers & Mae at the Community Building Thursday night.—adv.

The degree team of Miriam Rebekah Lodge will hold a drill meeting tonight at 7 o'clock.

Roy Estes returned home yesterday after a 10 days' business trip to Chicago and the Middle West.

The 86th birthday of Frank D. Lamb of Limerock street brought him remembrances from many friends.

The torpedo boat destroyer Bagley, built at Norfolk, Va., and commissioned last year, is at this port for standardization trials.

Pussy willows peeped from the roadside in Sunday's snowstorm. Ralph L. Smith picked a corsage bouquet.

Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock will be a meeting of the general Food Fair committee. The fair is less than five weeks away and present indications are for a bigger and better fair than ever. Ticket sales start Feb. 1 with George J. Cumming and Mrs. Gladys Philbrook as co-chairmen.

In the window of the McLoon Sales & Service on Limerock street may be seen a hand washing machine believed to be about 34 years old. It was loaned to Kenneth Libby of the company's staff for exhibition purposes. The old stager attracts much attention, but "Ken" is looking for one which is even more aged.

A competitive examination for candidates of appointment for Second Lieutenant in Battery F, 240th Coast Artillery, will be held at Thomaston, Wednesday, the Adjutant General's department announced Saturday. Members of the examining board are Major Alonzo B. Holmes; Lt. Everett K. Mills; and Dr. Oliver F. Cushing.

One of the big events of the year with any fraternity is installation night, and it comes next Friday night with Golden Rod Chapter, O.E.S. The retiring matron, Frances Morse will have charge of the exercises, assisted by George W. Gay past patron, Past Matron Vivien Hewett as chaplain and Past Matron Helen Chapman as grand marshal. A social hour will follow. The public is invited.

A Rockland delegation including Ernest K. Crie and Sanford Delano of the H. H. Crie & Co. ski department, Robert Blackman, Sidney Harding, Robert Hills and Charles Ray, members of the Ski-Gull Club, motored Sunday to Waterville where they participated in the opening of the winter sports area at Dunham Mountain farm. Plenty of people and hundreds of cars were on hand to make the affair a success, though the local skiers felt the ski course inferior to our own Bare Mountain run. The group was especially impressed with the cordial treatment they received at the Elmwood Hotel which outdid itself in welcoming visiting winter sports folk.

The Steamboat Editor was this morning the pleased recipient of a group of seven pictures of S. S. Commonwealth, greatest of all New England's side wheelers and sharing honors with our own City of Bangor as the most famous. The pictures show the great liner on her maiden trip from New York and later tied up at Fall River with finally her unhappy last sailing on the end of a tow rope bound for Baltimore—and the scrap heap. Characteristically, one view shows a disconsolate group of the faithful watching the still fine ship depart just as a similar group stood sick at heart on windswept Tillson wharf that bitter cold night of Dec. 27, 1935 and heard the beautiful whistle of the Belfast send its final three slow, deep notes echoing over the waters of Rockland Harbor.

Roy Coombs is at Pemaquid, superintending the construction of a cottage for Capt. John Partridge.

Maine friends of Victor Whittier see him often on the streets of Miami, where he is spending the winter.

Capt. George Snow and brother John are operating a filling station at Coral Gables, Fla., with the latter in charge.

A. C. Ramsdell of the Ramsdell Packing Co. is in Chicago this week, attending the National Canners' Convention.

Fire in the Ash Point residence of Herman Drake sent the Fire Department scurrying to that village Saturday. Not much damage was done.

Miss Florence Molloy has her first dance recital Feb. 8, at High School auditorium, presenting her pupils in a song and dance revue, "Kippie Kiddie Kapers."

There will be no W.P.A. vocal classes this week, but Miss Lotte McLaughlin will resume her classes next Monday, following Wednesday night with the group session.

Listing the coming basketball games in Bath the sports editor of the Times estimates that Rockland High will draw a gate of only $60. And this in spite of the fact that Rockland High had made a better showing against Morse High than any other team except Kent's Hill.

A pot of meat boiled dry in a Grace street home Friday night and smoked up the house so badly that the Fire Department was called. If the smudge runs true to form the occupants of the house will be reminded of the incident for some time to come.

The record high string for women at Community Alleys, 102, has been held since the opening by Miss Ruth Anderson of the telephone company group, but on Saturday, "Along came Ruth"—Ward this time, with a 108 which is tops at the moment.

George Morton of Waltham, Mass., who has been transferred to Rockland, in charge of the local district of the First National Stores, will occupy the Dorman house on Limerock street, probably about the first of March. He succeeds Ralph Whitehouse who has been transferred to the New Hampshire district.

At the Thursday meeting of Edwin Libby Relief Corps, patriotic questions were answered by Mrs. Mabel Richardson. Next Thursday the corps is conducting a public beano party at Grand Army hall at 2 o'clock, the usual supper at 6 o'clock being in charge of Mrs. Allie Knowlton, assisted by Mrs. Bernice Hatch and Mrs. Elizabeth Mills with a business session at 7:30.

Director Planagan is holding gym classes regularly at Community Building, for the Junior and high school members. The junior members have the classes Monday night, from 4 to 5:30, and also every Saturday morning. High School members meet Tuesday from 4 to 5:30 and Saturday afternoons. In case of a varsity basketball game on Wednesday, the teams will be practicing Monday and Tuesday, and the gym classes will be held Thursday and Friday.

Legionnaires and ex-service men of Rockland are invited to attend supper and entertainment Thursday night at the Legion hall. Howard Dunbar will serve a full course lobster dinner. The guest speaker will be Frank A. Winslow, associate editor of The Courier-Gazette. Dr. Eugene Fogg of Portland, candidate for department commander for 1938, will speak on Legion affairs and Department Commander Hector G. Staples will discuss the activities of the department. There will also be music and entertainment. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock sharp and there will be plenty of time allowed to attend the President's Ball. There will be no charge for the dinner but a small collection will be taken. All "buddies" are urged to attend and take a new member.

Just received, white installation dresses, sizes 14-44 Specially priced at $5.95 and 7.95. Senter-Crane Co.—adv.

Crowds tell the story.

The people of Knox County are eager to buy when the goods and reductions are right.

GREGORY'S INTENSIFIED SALE

Is going into its last week with only four more selling days. Saturday night this money saving opportunity will be gone forever.

The riot of buying that is sweeping this store is ample proof that the store... the sale... the merchandise and the reductions are right.

Men from every street and ward in the city are here buying more than they ever thought they would. Men with suits in mind buy overcoats too when they hear the prices. Pursues that were sealed to ordinary reductions spring open and talk business when these values are held up for inspection.

Join these men who are making money faster by spending it than they ever did by saving it. See these reductions before they save money for your friends.

Ralph Ulmer Camp and Auxiliary will meet at Legion hall Wednesday night at 7:30.

Plans are fast maturing for the Valentine Dance at Community Building, Feb. 14 under auspices of the Kiwanis Club with Rockland's under-privileged children as beneficiaries.

Sherman H. Lord, proprietor of Lord's Tire and Battery Station, has bought and now occupies the building formerly occupied by the Ku Klux Klan at the corner of Cedar and Brewster streets.

A recent visitor in the city was Benjamin J. Ness, town clerk at Appleton. Mr. Ness doesn't rightly remember whether it is 25 or 26 years he has served, but the taxpayers will see that he remains as long as he cares to.

Rockland Encampment, I.O.O.F., meets Wednesday night at 7:30. Supper will be served at 6:15. All members not solicited please communicate with Alan Sawyer or Nestor Brown.

Returning from a visit in Westbrook Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gregory found that somebody had entered their residence at Glen Cove disarranging its contents, but taking nothing apparently. It may have been somebody's idea of a joke.

The faculty of the McLain School tomorrow night will have a reserved table at the Universalist church supper which is being served by the men's committee, headed by L. A. Walker. Mr. Walker is holding out the name of the happy man who is to be assigned to wait on that table.

George Morton of Waltham, Mass., who has been transferred to Rockland, in charge of the local district of the First National Stores, will occupy the Dorman house on Limerock street, probably about the first of March. The annual parish meeting of St. Peter's Parish will be held at the Undercroft Thursday night. The meeting will be preceded by a Parish supper. The committee in charge Mrs. Alton Decrow, Mrs. Robert House and Mrs. John Thomas.

Optometrists of the Rockland zone of the Maine Optometric extension program will meet in the offices of Dr. Bradford Burgess, 391 Main street, Rockland, Thursday evening, at 7:30 with Dr. Burgess in charge.

Irene C. Gould, widow of Sumner A. Gould, died Sunday Jan. 16, at the Medfield State Hospital, Massachusetts after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Gould was born in Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 5, 1853, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot J. Woolley.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Waitstill Hastings Sharp Tuesday, Jan. 18 in the Unitarian Church at Wellesley Hills.

Mrs. Gould had been a member of the Pleasant Beach summer colony for 45 years. She was a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society and compiled the genealogy of the family of Christopher Woolley which was published in the Historical and Genealogical Register of January, 1921.

Surviving Mrs. Gould are her grandson Albert Sumner and two great grandchildren Elinor and Albert Sumner Gould of Phoenix, Arizona and her sister Mrs. Emma Davis of Hammonton, New Jersey.

There will be a game of basketball on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Armory. The Wiscasset Athletic Club is out to beat Battery E. The home team has lost only three games out of 12.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Waitstill Hastings Sharp Tuesday, Jan. 18 in the Unitarian Church at Wellesley Hills.

Mrs. Gould had been a member of the Pleasant Beach summer colony for 45 years. She was a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society and compiled the genealogy of the family of Christopher Woolley which was published in the Historical and Genealogical Register of January, 1921.

Surviving Mrs. Gould are her grandson Albert Sumner and two great grandchildren Elinor and Albert Sumner Gould of Phoenix, Arizona and her sister Mrs. Emma Davis of Hammonton, New Jersey.

Miss Lois E. Keene who died Saturday following an illness of five months, was the daughter of Comfort S. and Olive (Lindsey) Keene, one of Rockland's oldest families.

Miss Keene's grandfather was George Lindsey, proprietor of the Lindsey House, whose property extended from the hotel to Lindsey Grove.

Quiet tastes, loyalty and a deep love of books and flowers were the characteristics which drew to the deceased appreciative friendship of neighbors and all associates. Miss Keene was a member of the Congregational Church and was active in relief associations as long as health permitted. She also held membership in the Progressive Literary Club.

Rev. Corwin H. Olds of the Congregational Church officiated at the funeral rites held Monday from the Burpee parlors. Interment was in Tolman cemetery.

Among the survivors are cousins, Jarvis Keene of Watertown, Mass., who attended the services; Carter B. Keene, a lawyer of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Otis A. McLeod of Dorchester, Mass.; and E. Clyde Thomas of Pawtucket, R. I.

DRESSED AS DESIRED

Though the attendance at "Candiedelight," first play of the Community Theatre Guild, was not as large as had been expected, those who did see the well played show were impressed with the excellent results obtained by the newly installed sound system, gift of the Rockland Lions Club. So well did the system function that few persons were aware of its operation, though every voice was clearly heard in every corner of the great auditorium. There was a complete freedom from the metallic tone or mechanical distortion of voice noted in many public address symptoms. The voices came through easily and 100 percent natural.

Mr. Leigh Preached
Well Known Pastor Speaks On "High Individualism" At Vinal Haven

Rev. A. F. Leigh preached at the Union Church in Vinal Haven, Sunday. He said in part:

"In speaking on the subject, 'High Individualism,' I mean attaining our highest personality. By 'High Communism' I mean that scheme by which we shall equalize the social conditions of life. Let every man prove his own works. The stonemason criticizes his own work before the inspector comes along and does it for him. Let the school teacher and worker criticize their work; the store keeper his store; and the preacher, his sermons. This was the thought of St. Paul and means in a narrow sense one's own job and in a broad sense, one's own duty.

"We are all acquainted with the lower individualism, which is selfishness. We talk about my property, my plan, my idea, my money; but the higher individualism would say my task, my responsibility, my duty. We would not persistently strive to saddle other people with our obligations, cares and responsibilities if we had a sense of personal importance for the common cause.

"Take up your cross," the Master said. If you do not, remember, the cross will be taken up, but by someone else who will have to carry your cross and his own also. We hear much about employment, but there is something worse than that—the unemployment of the spirit, mind, heart and soul. There are too many lying about which are really called to the great quest of Kingdom building.

"I once saw a man working a foot lathe and I said to him, 'Does not the foot get tired?' He replied, 'It is not the foot that works that gets tired, it is the foot that stands.' There are millions tired, bored with religion and ideals. They gape at the thought of God, so at a call of duty they are as flat as a punctured tire. It is not with work that they are weary, it is with standing still. They suffer from spiritual stagnation.

"Martin Luther carried his burden and the Protestant Church is the result. John Wesley refused to stop preaching when Bishop Butler of Bristol said he had no right to preach, but he carried his burden and said, 'The world is my parish.' The Methodist Church is the result.

"Let us think not so much of our rights, our property, our comforts, but of our high calling, our responsibility, our service. Let us devote ourselves in complete consecration to His service, of bearing our burdens."

Requirements have been set up in order to elevate the standard of work next year. This will be accomplished by preventing students from electing subjects on courses in which they are not able to do satisfactory work because of lack of ability along certain lines of study; or lack of the interest or ambition to do a grade of work in prerequisite subjects which will enable them to maintain a satisfactory grade of work in the advanced subjects.

The commercial course is of a practical nature, but a student who graduates with less than an average of 80 is not likely to find a place in the business world either directly after graduation or after advanced training in a business college. For this reason a student who does not secure an average of 80 in the Commercial course is not entitled to a Commercial diploma. Also if at the end of the Sophomore or Junior year a student is not making a grade of 80 in all Commercial subjects he or she will be dropped from this course.

Practically all colleges require an average of 85 in all required subjects (English, Social, Science, Mathematics, and Language). To be recommended for admission to a college by this school an average of 85 is required of the graduates' college preparatory course. For this reason a student who does not maintain a rank of 80 or above in the required subjects will be dropped from this course.

The general course is open to all who are seeking a general High School education and to those who do not meet the requirements which are considered necessary to pursue the Commercial and College Courses.

Election of certain subjects: To elect Latin III, Bookkeeping II and Algebra II, a grade of 80 must be secured in the first year of each of the above subjects; to elect French I or Latin I a student must be at least a C (80) student in English; plane geometry, attain an average of 80 in Algebra I; typewriting II, attain a speed of 30 words a minute with not more than 10 errors in Typing I.

Parent-Teacher Meeting

Twenty-five members of the Parent Teacher Association met Wednesday at the Village School to hear the topic "Movie Values for Boys and Girls" discussed by Mrs. Bertha Young and Mrs. Marcia Davis. It was pointed out that the "good" influence of a picture of an elevating type did not last very long, but that the influence of a criminal picture sometimes carried into later life.

Pictures of the "scare" type had a very disturbing effect upon the nervous systems of the young people, taking sometimes as long as 72 hours for the child to return to normalcy. If the harmful effects of such pictures are to be avoided parents must choose wisely for their children, and teach them to choose wisely for themselves.

At the business meeting it was voted to make a contribution to the fund for Infantile Paralysis to be added to the gift from the school children.

The Association now has 51 members. The president, Mr. Ida Stenger, requested that each member take in a new member and thus swell the roll to 100.

Four books have been bought by the Association which will be found on the P.T.A. shelf at the public library.

Plans are underway for a social evening to be held within a short time. A committee, with William Bramhall as chairman, is hard at work to complete details.

The February meeting will be a Founders' Day program, to which everyone is invited.

THE LARGEST BIRD

The California condor, largest bird on this continent, has been reduced to a total of about 45 specimens, rigidly protected by federal authority and the State of California. "Half a dozen species of birds have become extinct in this country," said Fred Jordan, director of National Wildlife Restoration Week, "and for this spectacular and harmless bird to vanish would be highly unfortunate."

"I AM ONE OF THE MILLIONS WHO PREFER CAMELS" SAYS RALPH GREENLEAF
WORLD'S CHAMPION IN POCKET BILLIARDS

"HEALTHY NERVES ARE A MUST WITH ME!"

FOURTEEN different times the news headlines have flashed: RALPH GREENLEAF WINS WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

In a special interview during his recent championship play in Philadelphia, Ralph said: "I'd say the most important rule in this game is to have healthy nerves. And on that score, I think, Camels have a lot extra to offer. One of the main reasons why I've stuck to Camel cigarettes for twenty years is—they don't ruffle my nerves."

And America as a nation shows the same preference for finer tobaccos that Ralph Greenleaf does!
Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America

Fencing experts, too, appreciate Camel's finer tobaccos. As BELA DE TUSCAN, the famous instructor, says: "Fencing is very tiring, and I welcome the quick 'lift' I get with a Camel."

JAMES L. CLARK, famous scientist and explorer, says: "I always carry plenty of Camels with me into the wilderness. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!' Many's the time I've done it."

HELEN HOWARD, top-flight spring-board diver, of Miami, Florida, says: "Camels don't irritate my throat—not even when I'm sitting around in a wet suit, a target for irritation."

HE IS COUNTED THE GREATEST POCKET-BILLIARD PLAYER OF ALL TIME. Here Greenleaf executes a difficult massé shot, requiring split-second accuracy, faultless stroking, and healthy nerves. And the world's two famous masters of the cue—champion Ralph Greenleaf and the 18.1 ballline billiard champion, Willie Hoppe—are both Camel smokers.

THOMASTON

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leonard of Union and their sons Howard, Henry, Robert and Paul were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Brasier.

The three-act comedy in Watts hall Thursday is sparkling with fun and action, has romance as well, and even a note of tragedy.

The menu for the supper tomorrow night at 6 o'clock in St. John's parish hall is: Meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, cabbage salad, dark bread, apple pie, cheese and coffee.

The Augusta teams won both games from Thomaston Saturday night at Augusta, the Junior Varsity winning 23 to 14, and Varsity 41 to 12. The Thomaston boys played a good game but were up against a better team. Rockland boys' and girls' teams play at Thomaston Wednesday night, a Knox-Lincoln League game.

Miss Elizabeth Killaran of South Portland spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. George Phillips, in Rockland and with friends in town.

At Grace Chapter meeting Wednesday at 7:30 there will be rehearsal for the old and new officers in preparation for the installation Jan. 31.

Herman Simmons of Rockland is the new manager of the First National store, Mr. Tash having been transferred. Kenneth Keyes is also employed in the local store.

Russell D. Gray of Boston has been in town on business, staying over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Feyer.

Mrs. W. T. Flint is out of town, called by the illness of her mother. Mrs. Louis Hanley is substituting as town nurse in her absence.

Miss Barbara Elliot was home from Providence for the weekend.

Mrs. Abbie F. Rice received word Monday of the death of her cousin, Mrs. Abbie Merrill, Fowler at Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Fowler a few years ago spent the summer with Mrs. Rice and will be remembered by friends here.

Miss Mabelle Brown is home from Portsmouth, N. H. for a few days. Miss Ardell Maxcy entertained a party of friends Saturday evening.

At the "Serve-yourself" supper in the Congregational vestry Thursday at 6:30, patrons will pay for what they select and are assured a complete meal for a very moderate sum. The housekeepers are Mrs. Weston Young, Mrs. Orvil Williams and Mrs. E. R. Biggers. After supper there will be progressive games.

Edward Brown

Edward Brown was born in Thomaston, Sept. 5, 1851, son of Alexander W. and Sarah Jane (Fogarty) Brown, and spent all his life in this town. He graduated from the High School with the class of 1871, the first class to follow a prescribed course of study and receive diplomas. His class was 1870, but wishing to take an extensive course he continued with '71. He was a pupil of Miss Kate Spaulding, afterward Mrs. George Green of South Thomaston. One of the founders of the Alumni Association, he was its first president and held that office for several years. He was always present at the annual alumni gatherings and enjoyed them.

In 1875 he was married to Sarah E. Barter of St. George, who died June 20, 1930.

He engaged in the lumber business and later had a shoe store in the west end of the old Watts Block. From 1890-92 he was collector of customs in the town, and from 1893 to 1914 he was postmaster. During the World War he was employed as timekeeper at the Atlantic Coast Co. For a long time he was the local correspondent for The Courier-Gazette and his work was valued highly by the newspaper and the public alike.

Always genuinely interested in young people, he was superintendent of schools in the town, and for 36 years was superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School, where he was also a teacher.

He united with the Baptist Church in his early youth, and served as deacon many years. The church was his chief interest throughout his long life. He lived his religion, in kindness and generosity.

With no children of their own, he and his wife took into their home as a daughter Stonie Tucker, now Mrs. Jamison of Camden, who in turn has given them a daughter's care through the years; they were also devoted friends to many other young people who now remember them with gratitude and affection.

The end of his earthly day came quietly and peacefully Jan. 15. Returning from a long walk in the afternoon, he had retired for a rest.

His nearest surviving relatives are four cousins, Mrs. George Newcombe (Edith Washburn) of Washington, D. C., Prof. Alfred Newcombe of Galesburg, Ill., Miss Elizabeth Newcombe and Edward Brown Newcombe of this town.

Funeral services were held last Tuesday afternoon, in the Baptist Church, Rev. H. S. Kilborn the officiating clergyman. Honorary bearers were Henry Shaw, Millard Gilmore, Ralph Carroll and Francis Tilson. After cremation at Forest Hills, Mass., the ashes were laid in the family lot in Thomaston cemetery.

GUY C. SHELDON

Guy Clifton Sheldon died at his home in Camden Jan. 15 after a severe attack of asthma. The funeral was held at Good's Funeral Parlor, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Brown of the Baptist Church and by the Odd Fellows.

The deceased was born in Camden, June 17, 1897, son of Ralph C. and Grace (Heald) Sheldon. After his mother's death, while he was a small lad, he lived for a number of years with his grandmother, Mrs. Ambrose Sheldon, and later with his father. He attended the Camden schools and then entered the mills, where he worked as a weaver until his death, with the exception of one and one-half years in Newark, N. J., and during occasional periods when the mills were closed.

In November 1922 he married Mildred M. Tolman who survives him. Mr. Sheldon had suffered severely from asthma for many years. He had been cared for, during his many attacks, by the faithful and efficient ministrations of his wife, a registered nurse.

Mr. Sheldon was a member of the local Masonic body, the Odd Fellows and the Grange. He has served the town as constable. His hobby was coon hunting and in this sport he had been very enthusiastic and successful.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Edith and Ruth, 12 and 8 years old, respectively, and his father Ralph C. Sheldon.

Of a kind disposition and sunny temperament Guy Sheldon was unusually popular and beloved among his townsmen and many acquaintances who sincerely regret his early departure from life's activities.

Whitehill Fined

Former Camden Man Found Guilty In Portland Court Of Intoxicated Driving

A fine of $200 and costs was paid yesterday by Albert E. Whitehill, formerly of Camden, after a Cumberland County jury had found him guilty of drunken driving. The jury took about an hour to reach the verdict.

The Whitehill case which came before a Superior Court jury for the second time after a jury at a previous term had been unable to reach an agreement, was on appeal from the finding of a trial justice at Yarmouth. Whitehill was arrested in that town Sept. 4 by State Highway Patrolman Marriner.

Mr. Whitehill, taking the stand in his own defense, declared that he had suffered a severe gastric illness in 1928, had undergone a difficult operation and has since been in ill health. He admitted taking a drink at Brunswick on the night of his arrest because he was feeling far from well. He had then continued on his trip with the intention of going to Massachusetts for the weekend with his physician but had found himself too ill to continue, so had turned to go back to Camden. Feeling unequal even to such a drive in the stormy weather that then prevailed, he had again turned, intending to come to Portland to a local hotel. He had been arrested shortly afterward. He denied being under the influence of liquor, attributing his condition to his illness.

Two other witnesses testified that Whitehill did not appear intoxicated.

Founder's Week Conference to Emphasize Evangelism

The famous evangelist, D. L. Moody, in a characteristic pose. (Insert) Dr. Will H. Houghton, President of The Moody Bible Institute.

CHICAGO — Climaxing a worldwide, two-year celebration in observance of the D. L. Moody Centenary and the Institute Jubilee, the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago announces its 32nd Annual Founder's Week Conference to be held here January 31-February 6.

President Will H. Houghton, announcing the conference, said, "The theme of this year's conference will be 'Preparation for Evangelism.' An awakened consciousness of the need of a vital interest in soul winning has been felt by church leaders throughout the country. This conference, it is hoped, will help bring it to pass—perhaps even to the beginning of a great revival. It is expected that pastors and evangelists, missionaries, and large numbers of lay-workers will welcome this opportunity to consider this important theme."

Tuesday will be Alumni Day when graduates and former students from many parts of the world will gather for the annual Alumni Luncheon and Fellowship. Missionary Day will be observed on Thursday. Appearing on the program of speakers for this day will be Rev. Harold B. Street of Ethiopia and Rev. James E. Mallis of India. Saturday will be Layman's Day with messages by such outstanding Christian laymen as Mr. R. G. LeTourneau of Peoria, Illinois, and Stockton, California, and Mr. Erling C. Olsen, vice-president of the Fitch Publishing Company of New York City.

Other notable guest speakers on the program are Dr. Herbert W. Biebler, Philadelphia; Dr. Albert Sidney Johnson, Charlotte, N. C.; Dr. W. H. Knight, Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. Harold S. Laird, Wilmington, Del.; Dr. George S. McCune and Dr. Wilbur M. Smith of Chicago; Dr. Robert G. Lee, Memphis, Tenn., and Dr. Herbert Lockyer, Liverpool, England.

Special musical groups to be heard include the Moody Musical Messengers, heard by large and enthusiastic audiences in this country and Canada during the past year, and the Institute Chorus Choir. The music in general will be in charge of Dr. Homer A. Hammon, Montreal. Dr. Will H. Houghton will direct the conference program throughout the week.

Again this year on Sunday, February 6, hundreds of churches throughout the world have indicated their intention of participating in the observance of the birthday of the great evangelist, D. L. Moody. Through this annual observance of Moody Day is being perpetuated the emphasis of the things for which Moody is remembered, Bible study and personal soul-winning. The story of Moody's life is being given to pastors who are conducting these meetings. Details of this free offer will be gladly sent on request to the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Mysterious Disease

The near approach of the President's Birthday Ball, the proceeds of which go toward fighting infantile paralysis, centers attention on that dread disease.

The paradoxical phases of infantile paralysis are quite numerous. In the first place, designating the disease as infantile paralysis is a misnomer. It is not limited to infants only. Many cases have been recorded where the victims were between the ages of 20 and 70 years.

In the majority of instances, severe epidemics of infantile paralysis have occurred between the months of June and October. One would think the epidemics would occur when children were in school rather than at the time when they are enjoying their summer vacation.

It has been discovered that epidemics are more numerous and more severe in the temperate zones than in the tropical and subtropical climates. There have been no severe epidemics in the southern part of United States but there have been several major epidemics in the northeastern and north central States and these occurred in the summer months when the temperature in the northern States was on a par with that of the southern climate.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT (For The Courier-Gazette) You have heard of the famous howlers. There are some you never forget. But get this straight, there's none so great.

As the one you have never met. Believe it or not, he is sixty-nine—Been bowling for fifty years. Taking them on as long they come. And pinning back their ears.

Opponents say that he's lucky. Couldn't bowl with the wood. But listen while I tell you. How this "Money Bags" got good.

Some years ago while hunting. John ran into a cat. The kind that have that funny smell. And he never got over that.

So now when Thomas is bowling. Without appearing to try. He only uses one eye. But beats them all, young or old.

Now that you have his secret. Whenever you think you're good Drop into his little emporium. He will beat you, without the wood. Charlie Chan.

LADY KNOX CHAPTER, D. A. R.

History of the organization as prepared by Mrs. Maude E. Blodgett, and read by her at Chapter's 40th anniversary.

(Second Installment)

In 1918 the members of the D.A.R. again renewed their pledge of allegiance in the matter of "food conservation for the Boys somewhere in France," and money was donated toward the restoration of the village of Tillooy, France.

At the annual meeting in 1920, a most interesting original paper entitled "The Brindled Cowry of the Persian Gulf," illustrated by a fine collection of sea-shells, was given by Mrs. Julia Collins; money donated toward the expenses of the Knox County health nurse. A whist party was given in 1921 for the benefit of Knox Hospital, at which time $54 was raised. In March, Miss Cochran and Miss Thorndike invited the members to visit the Purchase street school building where an interesting program was given along patriotic lines; and money was given for relief of the Near East and Armenian sufferers.

In 1921 a rummage sale was held and $40 raised for charity work. Money was donated toward care of the Tolman cemetery, and D.A.R. manuals were presented to Italian citizens. In Tolman cemetery there are buried 19 soldiers of the Revolution and 16 of the War of 1812, and in 1935 a list of these men, with dates of births and deaths, was published in the D.A.R. Magazine, same having been compiled by Mrs. L. A. Thurston.

In 1922 money donated to the Philippine Education Fund and several books given to the Continental Hall library.

In March 1924 the chapter voted to discontinue the maintenance of a room in the new wing of Knox Hospital, and instead to give money to a ward; $10 was donated to the Red Cross Dental Clinic; a piece of parchment was sent to the curator General for the museum; and in response to request for genealogical data Miss Cochran stated she had in her possession a Bible dating back to 1754.

In 1925 a flag was presented to the new High School; Mrs. Bufum gave an interesting account of her trip abroad.

In 1926 it was voted to present manuals to each applicant for citizenship, and at the term of the naturalization court to present small silk flags, a custom which has been continued to date. Checks from John Grubel, Benjamin Smith and Cyrus H. K. Curfiss were received and applied toward the purchase of two chairs in Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C., one in honor of Lady Knox—our Chapter heroine—and the other for the regent, Mrs. Mary Perry Rich.

Money was realized from the sale of tickets to Othello, and $100 was voted to be set aside as an initial sum to be used for some specific purpose when the Knox Memorial was built in order to represent the chapter in that institution, and in April 1930 a beautiful mirror was purchased for Montpelier.

In 1927 money was contributed to the Civil War Memorial Association for repairs to the building, and prizes offered to pupils in the Eighth Grade for essays on patriotic subjects; $25 to the Mississippi Relief fund; $10 to Opportunity Farm, New Gloucester, Maine, which is now on the reserve list of schools aided by the D.A.R.

In 1928 the warden of the State prison was a guest speaker; a joint meeting with Gen. Knox Chapter was held at which Gov. Ralph O. Brewster was present, as was also the State Regent, Mrs. William Smith Shaw. A luncheon was served to the midshipmen of the U.S.S. Utah; a gavel was presented to the chapter by Mrs. Ralph Ayer of Thomaston, made from trees on the Knox estate; $10 given to the Red Cross. Mrs. Annatoyne showed a deed signed in 1801 by General and Lucy Knox in fair condition. More money given to the Near East Relief.

In 1929 money contributed to the clock fund for Continental Hall; to the famous Berry Schools in Georgia; to the D.A.R. state endowment fund; to Opportunity Farm; to Community Chest; two card parties added a considerable sum to the treasury, and Miss Stanley wrote an article on "Early Days in Rockland" which was published in The Courier-Gazette. Mrs. Julia Burpee exhibited a piece of original wall paper from Montpelier; articles were sent to Ellis Island. Christmas health seals purchased; a budget system adopted; Colonel E. K. Gould spoke on "Gleanings from the Past" and showed photostat copies of deeds, wills, etc., which he had secured from the Bureau of Pensions, Washington, as he was about to compile a list of biographical sketches of all men from Knox County who served in the Revolution; nine trees were planted at Crescent Beach thus enrolling the chapter in the American Tree Association, and a membership card was displayed.

In 1931 money was contributed to the Red Cross Drought Relief; the State Field Day was held at Opportunity Farm and several members attended; in November a meeting with Gen. Knox Chapter was held at Montpelier with Mrs. Danforth, State Regent as honor guest; also present was Mrs. Alice Prye Briggs, of Paterson, N. J., daughter of the late Senator Frye of Maine, she is a past recording secretary of the National Society D.A.R., and made a few remarks. At the December meeting Mrs. Anne Snow, regent, exhibited an 1800 Cavalry Flag, which the chapter later purchased from its owner, had it suitably framed and presented to Montpelier and it now hangs in the office. Programs this year were largely devoted to George Washington it being his bicentennial anniversary; $42 was received from a bridge party; books presented to the National library.

In October 1932 the Maine D.A.R. fall meeting was held in Rockland with 168 members present; luncheon was served in the Congregational Church, and later a conference held in Montpelier. At this time Mrs. William Russell Magna, president General N.S.D.A.R. was present. The annual field day picnic was held at Treasure Point Farm. Feb. 22 a group meeting of all patriotic organizations in Rockland was held in Park Theatre, and memberships in Knox Memorial Association secured from chapter members.

In 1933 a silver tea was held at the home of the regent; proceeds from a card party in honor of the president general's birthday sent to Constitution Hall; joint meeting at Montpelier with Mrs. Marcia Bindford State Regent present; chapter sponsored a broadcast by Judge Gould on "Marking the Historical Places;" a display of lantern slides on "Half Forgotten Romances of Early American History" shown; meeting on National Defense with an Army man as guest speaker; one on Patriotic Education with the S.A.R. and wives invited, also members of General Knox Chapter; at this time the 21 flags of the Pan American Union were effectively displayed and the flags later presented to the Junior High School; a Good Citizenship medal presented to an outstanding high school pupil, Miss Dorothy Frost, and members assisted in putting off a card party for the benefit of Montpelier.

1934 opened with a silver tea at the home of Mrs. L. A. Thurston, and $10 added to the treasury. Three picnics enjoyed during the summer beside attendance at the State Field Day and Marking at Brunswick of the home of Gen. Lawrence Chamberlain, one time governor of Maine. Mrs. Clinton C. Stevens was honor guest at the October meeting; later in the month a bronze marker in honor of John Perry, a Revolutionary soldier, was placed near the site of his home at The Highlands; a picture of this marker and the descendants grouped about it was later published in our national magazine. Three members of the G.A.R. were honor guests; a Lady Knox tea held at the home of Mrs. Ladd, at which time a past State Regent, Mrs. Lois Creighton, of Thomaston, was a guest.

1935 opened with a State marking at Stratton, at which time a marker was placed in honor of Col. Timothy Bigelow by his great granddaughter. In the fall a marker was placed on the grave of Mrs. Eliza K. Thomas, the chapter's only Real Daughter—that is, she was the daughter of a Revolutionary soldier, and died Nov. 19, 1900. The chapter now has one granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Smith Sellers, of Stonington, as a member, and 13 great granddaughters of the Revolution.

The year 1935, opened with a visit of the President General to Maine, and she was entertained, together with the S.A.R.'s who were holding their national conference in Portland, both in Augusta and at Montpelier; these events were attended by the regent and several members.

July 25, Gen. Henry Knox's birthday anniversary was observed in the manner it has been since the opening of Montpelier in 1930, by members appearing in colonial costumes and acting as hostesses. Over 500 pages of genealogical data was presented by the State Chairman of Genealogical Records, also a member of Lady Knox Chapter, to the National Society in Washington. Books and magazines were presented to C.C.C. Camp in Camden, Health Bond purchased; money donated to the Flood Relief; a paper presented to the Filing and Lending Bureau; Opportunity Farm remembered at Christmas time; our

A SMART CAT, "CHARCOAL"

Delora Morrill's Long Word Was Misspelled—Remember "Preface?"

Rockport, Jan. 17.

Editor of The Black Cat:—

Taking you at your word, I am writing a little more about "Charcoal." When we moved to Rockport he had learned to jump through a hoop or over our hands, roll over, stand up and shake hands, and open the door with the latch himself, when he wanted to come in. A neighbor said he caught their chickens; he never touched ours, but mother was peaceful, and called him in when their chickens were out loose and tied him to a table leg with a twine string, he would come to the table leg every morning to be tied.

One day two cats were fighting in the yard and "Chark" wanted to go out. Mother let him out and he jumped between them and they scattered. We never saw him fighting like some others do. I am saving the Black Cat's pictures and putting a tiny drop of ink in their eyes to make them see better.

Sisneris-tover-van-pro-van-tim-tan-tire-lire-Max-fame-well-square. All in one word, but I have sort of pronounced it, to make it plain. The printer evidently thought it a "jaw-cracker" and jumbled it, leaving out letters and putting in new ones.

Another word perhaps you remember in our speller, the word Preface. Peter Rise eats fish. Alligator catches eels. Back—Eels catch alligators. Fish eats raw potatoes.

WARREN

Mrs. Henrietta French, who has been ill, is improving.

Callers Sunday evening at the home of George Teague, were Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Blackington of Rockland.

Mrs. Clifford Carroll is gaining from recent illness.

Philip Blackington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Blackington, who has been quite ill for several weeks has returned to school.

A joint installation of the officers-elect of Georges River Lodge, K.P., and of Crescent Temple, P. S. will be held Friday, Maurice Chadwick of Friendship and staff to install the former, and Mrs. Mabel Mills and staff the latter. Each member is privileged to invite one guest. Refreshments will be served. Crescent Temple will meet before the installation Friday. The usual supper will be omitted.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Spear returned Monday to Chestnut Hill, Mass., after being weekend guests of Forrest Spear and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Barker in South Union.

The E. A. Starrett Auxiliary, S.U.V. will meet Wednesday. On the dinner committee are Miss Lizzie Winslow, and Mrs. Edna White. Members not solicited are requested to take seats.

Mrs. Willis R. Vinal entertained at guests at a recent dinner party. Mrs. William Barrett, Mrs. E. B. Clark, Mrs. W. H. Robinson, Mrs. Sidney W. Vinal, and Mrs. Sidney Wyllie.

Miss Pauline Starrett, who has been employed at the home of Mrs. George W. Walker, will visit her grandfather, Lester Starrett, of Flushing, L. I., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel M. Hilt for a few days before returning to Friendship. Her place at the Walker home will be taken by Miss Doris Bowley.

Friends are sending a post card shower this week to Mrs. E. G. Burns, 19 Fuller Terrace, West Newton, Mass. Mrs. Burns is recovering from a heavy fall.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hilt has returned to Union after passing several days with Mrs. Charles Simmons.

Friends here were shocked to learn of the sudden death Thursday of Mrs. Iral Smith. Mrs. Smith had made many friends while living in this community. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Randall, and Miss Edna F. Boggs attended the funeral services Sunday at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Rockland.

Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins of Camden have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Randall.

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dolham were Harry Weeks of Randolph, and Al-radio chairman broadcast over WCHS; G.A.R. invited to meet with us, but on the date set one of the few remaining members passed away.

Thus we come to the year 1937-38, to the regency of Mrs. Joshua N. Southard, an account of which will doubtless appear when her term of office is completed.

We extend thanks for the blessings that grow out of united service; for the life of our associates whose interests are like our own; for the men and women who bequeathed to us the rich heritage of their lives and prayed that we of this generation might meet the challenge of today.

Theodore Dreiser's first novel, "Sister Carrie," is to be published in a new edition by the Limited Editions Club for its subscribers. The American painter, Reginald March, received a fellowship prize of $2000 and a commission to illustrate a book for the club. March himself selected Dreiser's realistic novel. It will be published in 1939.

Late this month Harcourt, Brace will publish "Smoke and Steel," and "Slabs of Sunburnt West," by Carl Sandburg, a combined edition of two of Mr. Sandburg's early volumes of poems.

Gwen Bristow, author of "Deep Summer," now in its ninth printing, has completed the manuscript of her next novel "The Handsome Road." Though set in a later period than "Deep Summer," the new novel continues with some of the same families—the Larnes, the Sherwins and others. It will be a spring publication.

International Publishers is bringing out this early year "The People's Front," by Earl Browder, a survey of the current position of the Communist Party in the United States.

President Roosevelt has received 200 additional books for the White House Library as a gift from the book trade. The book trade presented the original collection of 500 books to the White House in 1929 when President Hoover moved in and the absence of a home library was noted. The original 500 books were selected as a basic model library. In 1933 the book trade made a second gift of 200 books published in the period from 1929 to 1933 to bring the library up to date. The latest gift collection comprises books published in the last four years and brings the total collection up to 900. The titles have been chosen to represent the idea of an enjoyable human library. Biography tops the non-fiction list in number, with 34 volumes represented. Of this group three books are written about lives of former presidents, two are recollections of life at the White House, and one is Mrs. Roosevelt's own autobiography. A special bookplate designed for the original library by D. B. Updike, noted typographer of Boston, has been placed in each of the new volumes. Among those on the committee of selection are noted: Lewis B. Traver, president of the American Booksellers Association (chairman), Emily Newell Blair, Christopher Morley, Fannie Hurst, Ruth Bryan Owen Rhoads.

One of America's new, well-loved shrines, the Joyce Kilmer Memorial Forest, 14 miles west of Robinsonville, in Graham County, N. C., is to be opened to the public through the construction of a network of 18 miles of footpaths that will lead hikers and nature students to various points of botanical and scenic interest. A Forest Service road has been built by C.C.C. enrollees to a parking area near the edge of the Kilmer tract. From this parking space trails will radiate. Probably the trail that will be most of ten used will be the one-half a mile in length that leads across Little Santeehah Creek into Poplar Cove where under a giant hemlock tree, there stands a granite boulder on which has been placed a bronze plaque bearing these words:

The cloverleaf of Swiss speech (French, German and Italian) is on the point of admitting a fourth language, Romansch, to equality in its law courts and a share in subsidies for culture and education. The bill to effect this equality is now before the Swiss Federal Chamber, and if adopted, must be voted on, probably in 1938, by the entire country. The chances are that Romansch will win its place, for it is Switzerland's only native language with the possible exception of several dialects, and is the expression in fact of a distinct culture. Romansch is the mother tongue of the valleys of Grisons, the speech of 50,000 people in whose way of living one finds the strength and severity of a mountain folk warmed and enriched by Italy. To visitors who know something of Latin, the words appear vaguely familiar, for Romansch is Latin, the run-of-the-mill soldier's Latin, persisting from legions quartered in the old Roman provinces of Rhetia

Season's Deer Kill

Knox Only County in the State Which Did Not Show An Increase

Every county in Maine, with the exception of Knox, showed an increase in the number of deer killed during the 1937 season as compared to 1936, according to figures made public by the Fish and Game department.

The total 1937 kill, compiled from the reports of checking stations throughout the State, was 19,561. This figure, however, does not include those shipped out of Maine by rail, which in past years has been added to the total.

Excluding the rail shipment figure, the report shows 2,746 more deer were killed in the State in 1937 than the previous year. Addition of the rail figures, it was pointed out, would make little difference in the comparison although it would swell both totals more than 2,000.

Washington County led the State in the number of deer killed; 3,397 being legally tagged in that section, an increase of 407 over 1936. Penobscot County was in second place with 3,152, a gain of 151 for the year. Aroostook, with 2,019, was third. Biggest increase shown by any county was in Piscataquis, which registered a gain of 442 for a total of 1,573. Somerset likewise showed a substantial increase, 277, and a total bag of 1,964.

Knox, the only county to lose, recorded a decrease of 25, dropping to a total of 153.

While the report indicated that there is an abundance of deer in Maine, fish and game department officials pointed out that the heavy increase in the number of hunters and the generally excellent hunting conditions last fall were largely responsible for the heavy kill. The sale of hunting licenses, resident and non-resident, was 3,300 greater in 1937 than in 1936.

The total kill by counties for 1937 and 1936 was as follows:

	1937	1936
Androscoggin	156	99
Aroostook	2,019	1,858
Cumberland	645	525

for hundreds of years. These Grison people will greet one another with "Blen Di," for example, thus preserving the old Latin "dies," wherein the Italian has "giorno" and the French "jour." A peppering of Celtic (Hebrew) and Alemannic words has been added, to be sure, but through the centuries the language in these isolated valleys has been less influenced from the outside than French or Spanish or Italian or Rumanian, so that Romansch today remains the closest living descendent of Latin tongue. Though spoken and sung for centuries (people of the Grisons all sing, and even their ordinary speech has a rather high-pitched rhythmic lilt), Romansch has been written down, analyzed into its grammatical parts, its spelling taught, and its folk-lore and songs published only within the last hundred years.

Admirers of Elizabeth Corbett's popular character, Mrs. Meigs, will be interested to know that an actual photograph of the famed old lady recently appeared in the Milwaukee papers. That is, the photograph was of the original person who Miss Corbett had in mind when she created Mrs. Meigs. It is a Mrs. Wright of Milwaukee, and her picture appeared in the papers as the first person to enroll in the Milwaukee County Red Cross Chapter when the Red Cross drive opened recently. Mrs. Wright is 99 years old, and the newspaper photograph showed her as a kindly, delightful person, in whose bright eyes flashes the same keen spirit which distinguishes the Mrs. Meigs of Miss Corbett's books. In these days when the reactions of people who discover that they have sat for their pen portraits by authors are not always kindly ones, and indeed, seem often to arouse bitterness, the warm friendship between Miss Corbett and Mrs. Wright is a cheering sign.

I want to go down to the sea again,
To that town on Penobscot Bay;
And see the house where I used to live,
And the field where I used to play.

And I hope that when I'm gray and old
These memories will last.
But even if they linger,
I want to go back some day

HOLLYWOOD STAR-LITES

By Ronald Coleman

Hollywood—(Exclusive) — Future motion pictures, except on rare occasions, will have their sources in the minds of Hollywood writers, schooled in the technique and atmosphere of film making. In other words, the original story is gaining ground while the published novel, the magazine story, and the stage play, three sources considered the basic supply for picture material are rapidly losing favor.

This trend went farther during 1937 than any other period in history. Of the Big Five, 20th Century-Fox, M-G-M, Paramount, Warner's and RKO, only M-G-M stressed published stories and plays. And at that 27 percent or 16 pictures were made from originals.

Twentieth Century-Fox made 73 percent of its pictures from originals: Paramount, 67 percent; RKO, 45 percent, and Warner's 38 percent. Of 264 pictures made by the five studios, 129, or 45 percent were made from originals, a record without precedent. Consensus of opinion among executives is that the picture made from outside published material will be the exception rather than the rule, and 1938 looms as a promising year for the screen writer with a salable original idea.

Your Hollywood correspondent is inclined to believe that the tremendous price asked for good stage plays or published stories is one of the main reasons. For instance, RKO paid $225,000 just for the motion picture right of the stage play, "Room Service," which is being filmed starring the Marx Brothers.

The deal between David Selznick and M-G-M whereby he would release his pictures through the studio releasing organization has failed. Thus ending all chances of Clark Gable playing Rhett in "Gone With the Wind" because M-G-M would not loan Gable unless Selznick would release through them. Gary Cooper seems almost set for the choice of Rhett, now.

Shirley Temple is to have a brand new teammate. It's Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante who has been picked to appear with the top box office princess in "Little Miss Broadway." Durante was picked for his outstanding work in "Sally, Irene, and Mary." And it will be a musical with songs.

Movie fans in far off Egypt voted Ginger Rogers the most popular and beautiful of America, French and English stars.

Educational Club

The First Winter Session Provides An Interesting Double Header

The Woman's Educational Club met Friday at Grand Army hall for the first winter session. The afternoon meeting opened by repeating in union the 121st Psalm and other passages from the Bible. Members present totaled 50, including five life members. Mrs. Hazel Woodward gave a paper on "Harriet Beecher Stowe" and Mrs. Helen Hall Gregory an article on "Maria Mitchell." Blue ribbons were presented.

Mrs. Emma Bradstreet led in current events and Mrs. Faustine Crockett read a poem written by Mrs. Elizabeth Marsh. Mrs. Nettie Witherspoon recited poetry composed by Mrs. Delora Morrill of Rockport. Mrs. Elita Sanborn commented on current topics. Mrs. Ann Snow's paper on "Building Up a Navy" created considerable discussion. Mrs. Nettie Stewart gave history questions and each member was asked to give her idea on Mrs. Rich's question, "What Would You Do First in Rockland or county or State if you were a temporary dictator?"

Mrs. Snow was asked to read an article entitled "Taking the Blind-ers Off of Love" from the American Magazine. The guest speaker was Rev. Corwin H. Oids, pastor of the Congregational Church, whose subject was "How to be Tactful." An open forum followed.

A public supper was served under the efficient management of Mrs. Elura Hamlin and this able group of assistants: Housekeepers: Mrs. Elura Hamlin, chairman; Mrs. Maude Cables, Mrs. Ada Brewster, Mrs. Betty Barton, Mrs. May Cross, Mrs. Annie Alward; Dining room, Mrs. A. L. Robinson, Mrs. Lina Carroll, Mrs. Elizabeth Crockett, Mrs. Inez Packard, Mrs. Vivian Kimball, Mrs. Blanche Shadie, Mrs. Jessie Snowman, Mrs. Shirley Rollins, Miss Mildred Moody, Miss Madeline Rogers. The table decorations were attractively arranged in patriotic colors.

The evening session was called to order with an estimated attendance of 110 members and guests. Patriotic exercises were first in order with the following leaders: "Lord's Prayer," Mrs. Leona Risteen; "Preamble," Miss Bertha Orbeton; "Gettysburg Address," Mrs. Emma Bradstreet; "Salute to Flag," Mrs. Leila Benner; "America's Creed," Miss Mabel Harding.

The secretary read the report of the annual meeting May 7 and also reported that nine picnic sessions were held during the summer at the homes of members. A public forum was held at the Congregational vestry, and a marker placed at the birthplace of Maxine and Gertrude Elliott. A total of 22 guest speakers was reported.

The treasurer's report showed five new members voted upon and 56 names were read as applicants for membership to be voted upon at the next meeting, with 236 new members admitted since the annual meeting in May.

A memorial service was held for members who had passed on during the past year. A list of these members was read by the president, Mrs. Rich, who paid fitting tribute to each. The list follows: Lucy Cobb, wife of Ex. Governor Cobb; Sadie Leach; Eliza Cousins; Fannie Mudgett of Camden, Lucy Winslow, Annie Jameson, Mary Flanagan, Bertha Robbins, Minnie Ludwig of Thomaston.

Mrs. Nettie Stewart read an appropriate poem. The critics' reports, given by Mrs. Ellen Dyer and Mrs. Nettie Stewart showed the following words to be mispronounced: admirable, advisable, aviator, guardian, addresses, towards.

An excellent entertainment was presented by the following group of children who displayed much talent and skill. Ida Reams in an old fashioned costume gave a ballet tap dance, which was surprisingly good for a first performance. Virginia White played a trumpet solo, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Roscoe McKinney and received much applause. An acrobatic dance by Barbara Newbert displayed much skill and grace. A military tap dance by Ruth Robinson in costume was well executed and little Jack Passon delighted the audience with a song and dance which would have done great credit to once much older than he. Most of these children are pupils of the Charlotte Cahill Rausser School of the Dance. Mrs. Iola Rector played for the dances. All of these children graciously responded to encores. This program was given under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Passon.

Dr. A. A. Hauck, President of the University of Maine, then spoke having for his subject "The Uses of Inspiration." He began by giving full credit to the uses of adversity citing the famous quotation from Shakespeare and calling attention to the fact that persons who really achieve something are frequently those who have overcome obstacles and to whom adversity has been a great teacher.

He went on to say that inspiration is also a great teacher. Quoting from an article he had read a while ago the statement that many children are well washed, dressed, fed and scolded, but never inspired, he stated his belief that there might be some truth in those words and that many children had failed to realize their best possibilities because no one furnished the spark to inspire them to some difficult task. He illustrated this by an incident occurring during his early experience in college. There was a boy attending a school who was very unhappy and unsuccessful. The teacher reported that he was not good human material; he couldn't learn so she couldn't do much for him. He was transferred to another teacher with the suggestion that she should not waste much time on him. He had another unfortunate experience. When he went to the third teacher she refused to believe that there wasn't something worth while to the boy. This teacher soon recognized unusual ability along certain lines with the result that in due time the boy became a great scholar in scientific fields.

Childhood experiences may extend their influence into adult life, he pointed out, giving as an example a man of his acquaintance who was extremely sensitive. It developed that this man had had a childhood during which someone was continually making fun of him. Dr. Hauck related an incident of his early teaching experience when he asked the pupils to write down their ideas of a good teacher. He secured very interesting responses among which he received this from an average type boy: "The teacher should encourage good work and discourage poor, but should do it on the side." Example is an excellent means of inspiration, he believes. "Young people have always been considered by their elders as not quite so good as they were," he said, calling attention to records of 3000 years ago saying that children were not obeying their parents. He pointed out the tendency among young persons to imitate their elders saying that if we do not like what they do, look around and see some of our own contemporaries.

Instead of encouraging youth many parents are quelling their enthusiasm and desire to follow their fathers' professions or occupations. This tendency to discourage youth is also found in schools and he told the story of commencement exercises where the students were told that industry had no place for them and that they would do well to keep out of the bread lines. He also thinks that youth should be inspired with the ideals of democratic government and good sportsmanship and with his experience with students in college, he believes that democracy still has good chance of continuing.

William T. Deering of Augusta, budget director, proved a good choice as substitute for Gov. Barrows, who postponed his address to a later meeting because of being called out of his State. Mr. Deering had for his subject "Taking Stock of Government." He brought out the fact that every business, public or private, must take stock to find out where it stands, but that this is not so simple in Government as there are so many different angles. In business, if we have bought goods at a low figure and sold at a high enough price with little overhead, we make a profit, but in Government it is necessary to figure on an entirely different basis. In reviewing expenditures for the past year we must find out whether or not we have rendered service sufficient to warrant the spending of the money.

During the past year the Legislature had to face a most difficult problem. As it was desired to reduce the deficit in the shortest possible time, it was necessary to discontinue for a time the old age pensions. At the same time there was strong agitation for a huge sum of money to provide for the Equalization of Education bill. As it became necessary for the Legislature to find temporary means to provide old age pensions for persons receiving them up to that time, it was figured that a 10 or 12 percent tax on liquor would provide for pensions and perhaps help reduce the deficit, until permanent laws could be enacted.

The sinking fund reserve, he explained, represents accounts receivable and does not represent cash. If a town has not paid its taxes, they are part of the sinking fund reserve. Then only this account would be converted into cash would be when the State went out of business.

The non-recurring accounts should be kept separate from the regular institutional and departmental costs of the State Government as should also the money from the Federal Government for W.P.A. projects, etc., which the State handles, he pointed out. To relieve the crowded conditions in the 13 State institutions, it was necessary to raise a bond issue which comes under the non-recurring accounts and the liquidation of this debt becomes a cost of government. These institutions are now in fine shape for several years, he believes.

The 30 percent liquor profit made by the State the previous year was used toward paying the cost of State Government, and together with the gas tax relieved the load on property taxes. The gasoline tax was subject to some abuse in that a surprising number of dresses were cleaned the past year, a refund of a part of the tax being allowed for this purpose.

Besides the enormous amount of money required for keeping the roads in shape and laying out new ones, there is the pauper bill of one and a quarter million dollars and the complicated health and welfare departments which the citizens have come to demand and for the maintenance of which an enormous sum of money is required. The amount of money needed for these departments would be even greater were it not for funds from the Federal Government, he pointed out.

Another item of expense is that we need about 120 men to arrest us when we run into someone else. This means an expenditure of about $250,000 a year. In comparing the amounts necessary today with 1915 for such items as blind relief, mothers aid, etc., it was seen that there had been an increase in some cases to 10, 20, or 30 times the amount required then. Courts placed 2800 children in the custody of the State because of neglect of parents. Mothers' aid has increased from $10,000 to $360,000 in 20 years. To show that the State is not extravagant in the operations of its institutions he had figures that compared favorably with those of private institutions; as for instance $476 a patient at the Augusta State Hospital would be difficult to match elsewhere or $18.10 at a tuberculosis sanatorium for bed and operative patients requiring constant attention and on special diets to induce them to eat. Towns are expected to contribute $2 a week if relatives do not, and there is $60,000 due from towns which the State has not been able to collect as they object to $2 a week in many cases. In addition to all of these expenses, it takes $3,000,000 to run the other departments of State government.

In summing up he made the following points: Since the last of July because of the action of the Governor and Legislature who thought that economies could be effected and the co-operation of each department and institution, large savings are being made. Cities and towns are paying their taxes much better and this is the first time in six years that a temporary loan in anticipation of taxes has not been made. We cannot hope for a decrease in taxes when the demands of the citizens increase rather than diminish. If you demand economies, be careful in asking a

Avoid Winter Skidding

MUCH of the skidding that is one of the chief hazards of winter driving can be avoided, or stopped before it leads to an accident, if a few simple precautions are observed. Drive slowly over icy roads, keep a reasonable distance from the car ahead, and in bringing the car to a stop avoid as much as possible the simultaneous use of the clutch and brake by taking advantage of the slowing-down effect of the engine.

Have your brakes checked at frequent intervals to make sure that they exert the same stopping force on both sides of the car. Unbalanced brakes are one of the most common causes of skidding accidents.

In city driving, keep out of the car tracks and fairly close to the curb. Streets generally slope towards the curb. Most skids will be in the direction of the slope and will be stopped by the curb before any great momentum is attained.

When a skid starts take the foot from the accelerator gradually and turn the wheel in the direction in which the car is skidding. Do not jam on the brakes and turn the wheel away from the direction of the skid. As a rule, this merely makes the skid worse.

reduction of service. If you demand increases in service, be careful not to undermine the cash structure. You and you alone, should decide for yourself whether or not you are receiving value from the State services.
